

Why was Bitcoin Shiba Inu born?

Animal abandonment continues to be an unfathomable reality. It is time to act as a species and individuals. That is why Bitcoin Shiba Coin was born, to fight against the cruel reality faced by abandoned dogs around the world.

The data is clear about it:

- 70% of the world's dogs live abandoned. According to the OMS and the Royal Canine Society of Spain, of the 800 million dogs counted on the planet, 500 million of them are homeless.
- Only in the United States there are 70 million homeless animals. Of this number, only about 8 million reach the shelters, which means that the rest always live on the street or die.

- In European countries, 80% of abandoned and unrescued dogs end up dying for lack of skills to survive.
- Only 10% of abandoned animals have been neutered or spayed before entering a shelter.
- More than half of abandoned pets end up being euthanized in the absence of guardians willing to adopt.

Why do dog abandonments occur?

-Unwanted litters (21% of abandonments): theoretically, an unspayed female dog can have up to 70 puppies in her lifetime. What does a guardian do when he suddenly sees 12 dogs at home and a few months ago he only had 1? The least responsible and ethical answer is obvious: leave them on the street.

-Behavioral problems (13.2%): separation anxiety, obsessive-compulsive disorders (OCD), aggressiveness and many other psychological conditions can make living with a dog very difficult. For less empathetic people, the best solution is to disengage altogether.

-End of hunting season (11.6%): unfortunately, sport hunting continues to be an activity that takes place in many regions of the world. If the tracking dog gets old or the period ends, it is sometimes decided to abandon it. Greyhounds are the ones who get the worst of it in this area.

-Loss of interest in the animal (10.8%): perhaps one of the most serious reasons for abandonment. Every tutor must understand that a living being is not a toy, but a sentient entity and a lifelong responsibility in equal measure.

-Economic factors (6.4%): Unfortunately, many people live on the edge of poverty and cannot support themselves. A dog is an expense of about 1,200 euros a year, so a guardian recently fired from his job may not afford to have one. Abandonment is never an option in these cases, there will always be someone willing to shelter the animal.

-Other causes: allergies (6.3%), change of address or transfer (6.2%), lack of time or space (6.1%), death of the guardian (5%), birth of a child, divorce and holidays (less than 6% combined).
